POLISH WAR ON RUSSIA CONDEMNED BY ASQUITH

Allied Duty To Prevent Aggression, Declares Former Premier

OUTLINES VIEWS

Freedom For New States Should Hinge On Their Keeping Peace

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 19.—Mr. Asquith, speaking at the Central Hall, Westminster yesterday evening, strongly condemned the Polish war against Russia.

He declared that it was an Allied duty to prevent Polish aggression. The Allies ought to have said, and they would yet have to say, to new States that they could have freedom and self-determination only upon the terms of living at peace with one another.

Mr. Asquith declared that the greatest material need was the restoration and development of the productive capacity of Europe and that this could be obtained by three roads: (1) peace all round, guaranteed by universal effectual disarmament; (2) free trade for international industry; (3) provision for the immediate ascertainment and progressive liquidation of the burdens imposed on the vanquished as the price of victory.

MOSCOW WIRELESS IS SILENT ONCE MORE

This, Mr. Asquith said, should be done by the abolition of the Supreme Council and the establishment of the League of Nations on a broader basis, reinforced by neutrals, our old enemies and Russia.

London, May 18.—The Morning Post states that Russian newspapers, which have reached Copenhagen, report that the silence of the Moscow wireless was due to a huge fire, accompanied by violent explosions, which started in an ammunition depot near the wireless station. The explanation is not altogether convincing as Moscow has three high-power stations. Moreover, since the brief communique on Sunday, silence has fallen again.

London, May 18.—The Teheran correspondent of the Times, telegraphing on May 11, states that a Bolshevik force has invaded Persia from Azerbaijan to demand the withdrawal of the British troops.

TRIBUTE PAID TO BRITISH NAVY WORK

The chief military forces in Persia are 6,000 South Persian Rifles, officered by British, 8,000 Cossacks under Russians, and 8,000 Swedish gendarmerie, commanded by the Persian Government.

London, May 19.—In the House of Commons today, replying to Mr. Rupert Gwynne (Unionist), Mr. Walter Long, First Lord of the Admiralty, paid a tribute to the splendid work of the British Navy in saving the lives of thousands of refugees from South Russia and assisting in the transport of General Denikin's army to the Crimea. He mentioned that 83,000 persons were evacuated from Novo-Rossisk in February and March during very severe weather.

FRANCE'S WAR DEBT TO BRITAIN UNDER 500 MILLION POUNDS

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 19.—In the House of Common today, Mr. Austen Chamberlain, stated that France's net war debt to Great Britain was probably under £500,000,000, no definite arrangement had been reached at Lympne with regard to France's repayment of this debt.

The British and French Governments had agreed that the payment of Germany's reparation should be made as provided by the terms of the Treaty, namely, the cost of the Army of Occupation first and any sums allowed to Germany for food and raw material next but there would be no question of priority among the Allies with regard to the distribution of the sums available in payment of reparation.

Senate Discusses Decline In Silver

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, May 18.—The Senate today discussed the decline in silver and the possibility of forming a combine to depress the selling figure of American products.

Below: General von Seecht.

Dispatches from strife-torn Berlin bring the news that several important changes have been made in the Ebert Cabinet. Eugene Schiffer is reported to have been chosen as Chancellor by President Ebert in the new Cabinet. General von Seecht has been selected to replace Gustave Noske as Minister of Defense. General von Seecht was one of the German delegation who went to Paris to represent his nation at the Peace Conference.

WILSON ATTITUDE ON TREATY SEEN AS PARTY PERIL

Senator Thomas Says Appeal Of Executive Means Dissolution Of The Democrats

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, May 18.—The Senate today continued the debate on the peace resolution. Senator Underwood opposed the resolution. In the course of his speech, he said that no immediate ratification of the Peace Treaty was in sight.

President Wilson's appeal to the Democrats to support the Treaty of Versailles was a feature of the debate. Senator Thomas, though opposing the resolution, said that President Wilson's attitude meant the dissolution of the Democratic Party. He declared that the appeal charged the Senators, who were supporting the peace resolution, with dishonor.

CRITICISE HYTHE RESULTS

Paris, May 18.—A certain amount of criticism has been aroused here by the result of the Hythe Conference. Experts suggest an international loan for the early realisation of the amount which it has been agreed that Germany can pay. On the other hand it is admitted that the Hythe declaration is too vague to permit of reasoned appreciation of the result of the agreement reached.

Washington, May 9.—Senator Johnson announced that he had a telegram from his campaign manager Charles Meyer Lissner of Los Angeles, charging the Hoover campaign for the Primary as the worst saturnalia of political extravagance that was ever exposed in Southern California.

Lissner has alleged that $20,000 has been paid to hire workers for Hoover, and another $20,000 for postage, and for the future election automobiles were hired for twenty-five dollars each.

CHURCHILL SAYS NAVY REMAINS ON MOBILISED SCALE

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 20.—Speaking at luncheon on the occasion of the opening of the Military Tournament yesterday, Mr. Winston Churchill, Secretary of State for War, said that now we had again the broad sunlight of victorious peace, we had to keep alive, on the scale of the army of before the war—a small defensive army for Imperial police duty—to keep alive those traditions which a generation hence might be the means of enabling our various communities, usually unprepared, to escape disaster.

The navy, the Secretary for War added, must always remain on a mobilised scale. They had always been and always must be strong enough, whatever happened, to enable all other deficiencies to be repaired.

BRITISH FIX NEW POLICY TO SUPPRESS IRISH REVOLT

Army To Handle Sinn Fein Fanatics—Will Hang Terrorists

LEADERS KNOWN

Flying Troop Columns Are Organised To Put An End To Raiding

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 20.—It is declared that the Government has decided on a new policy towards Ireland. Offenders in future will not be imprisoned without trial and those interned at present will have their cases reviewed by a panel of judges, the aim being to abolish procedures under D. O. R. A. and to restore legal processes.

Vexatious restrictions will be removed and the fullest possible liberty restored but the most vigorous suppression of violence and the punishment of the prepetrators has been determined upon.

The Sinn Fein fanatics will be met by armed forces. Unlimited numbers are being sent, according to the Chief Secretary's wishes, with a view to restoring order. Numbers of military posts, linked up by the most rapid methods of communication, are being established in the terrorised districts. The troops will be made as mobile as possible with small flying columns with horses and armored-cars with a view to raiding terrorist assemblies.

CONVICTED RAIDERS WILL BE EXECUTED

All prisoners, taken in such raids, will be tried and hanged, if convicted of capital offences. The Government believes that it knows the majority of the terrorist leaders. The new policy is being directed by Sir Hamar Greenwood, the Chief Secretary, and Sir Nevil Macready, the Commander-in-Chief, who are harmoniously co-operating in a general policy of conciliation, simultaneously accompanied by relentless war against the terrorists.

London, May 19.—In the House of Lords this afternoon, replying to the Marquess of Salisbury, the Lord Chancellor (Lord Birkenhead) emphatically declared that it was the policy of the Government, whether the struggle were short or long, to employ the whole available resources of Britain to restore law and order in Ireland and render utterly impossible the secessionary campaign at present in progress.

The forces of British, the Lord Chancellor said, were as deeply committed to carrying to success the Government's purpose in Ireland as they were to carrying out their purpose in the late war.

WILL INCREASE ARMY IF FORCE INSUFFICIENT

If the troops at present in Ireland were insufficient, more would be sent. The only limits would be the extent or degree of the crisis. If the existing military formation was insufficient, the Government would not hesitate to ask the population of the country to increase the forces as in the crisis of the war.

London, May 18.—The discussion of the Home Rule Bill was continued in the House of Commons today.

Colonel Sir Samuel Hoare moved an amendment establishing a second chamber for both Southern and Northern Ireland.

Mr. Walter Long, for the Government, said that the Government desired to make their proposals part of a Federal plan in which Great Britain and Ireland would participate and the central parliament of which would be in London.

FEDERAL SYSTEM HELD SECURITY FOR MINORITY

The Government, he said, believed that in a Federal system the best security for a Minority would be found in the Central Parliament. The Government proposed definitely to accept the principle of a second chamber for each of the two Irish parliaments. Mr. Long emphasised that the second chamber must be so constituted as to provide real protection to a minority. He declared that this would involve a great change in the structure of the bill, although the change was absolutely consistent with the fundamental principle of

DANIELS CHARGES FORGED CABLE IN SIMS' EVIDENCE

Denies Signing Message Shown In Navy Inquiry And Says An Apology Is Due Him

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, May 18.—Mr. Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, giving evidence before the Senate Naval Committee, said that Admiral Sims had tried to disregard the plans of the Navy Department instead of accepting the Department's suggestion for a great offensive to stop the submarine campaign.

Mr. Daniels alleged that the cablegram, produced before the Committee during Admiral Sims' evidence, bore a forged signature.

The message referred to was one sent to London as criticism by the Navy Department and purporting to be signed by Mr. Daniels. Mr. Daniels said that the original despatch was signed: "A. F. Carter by direction of the Chief of Naval Operations." Continuing he said:

"Somewhere somebody has been guilty of signing my name to an official despatch which, the original shows, I never signed or allowed to be despatched, and of erasing the signature and substituting 'Daniels.'"

Mr. Daniels said that Admiral Sims should produce the person who had changed the signatures and declared that Admiral Sims owed an "apology to him and to the country."

United States Oil Supply Sufficient For Only 20 Years

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, May 18.—The Bureau of Mines has issued a warning that owing to the enormous increase of oil-burning ships and automobiles, the consumption of petroleum in the United States is increasing faster than production. It is estimated that 40 percent of the oil in the United States has already been brought to the surface and that only twenty years supply remains.

Court Decision Awaited On What It Costs Married Man To Live In Shanghai

Ruling To Be Given By Judge Lobingier In Case In Which Worker Repudiated Contract Saying He Could Not Live On Wages Paid

Whether $350 a month is a reasonable wage for a married man in Shanghai under present-day conditions is a question that is to be dealt with in a decision soon to be handed down by Judge C. S. Lobingier following trial of the case of H. S. Honigsberg and Company versus Charles S. Jones in the United States Court for China.

As stated in earlier reports of the trial Jones was employed in the capacity of shop foreman by the Honisberg company under a three-year contract at a salary of $350 a month. After he had come to Shanghai at the expense of the company and brought a bride with him he quit his job after a few weeks, repudiating the contract on the grounds that false representations had been made to him concerning living costs in Shanghai.

Jones alleged that he had been given to understand that a married couple could live in as good style in Shanghai for $350 a month as in San Francisco for $160 Gold a month and he contended that this is not true. Witnesses on the other side who testified did not deny that this representation had been made to Jones, but asserted that a married couple could live comfortably, if not lavishly, in Shanghai on $350 a month.

TRIAL CONCLUDED

The trial was brought to a conclusion yesterday morning. Mr. Earl B. Rose of Jernigan, Fessenden and Rose appeared for the Honigsberg Company and Mr. R. T. Bryan Jr. of Fleming, Davies and Bryan appeared for the employe.

In the course of his examination when the trial opened Jones stated his case in answer to questions of his attorney. His testimony in part is given as follows:

Q. State your full name.
A. Charles B. Jones.
Q. Married or single?
A. I am married.
Q. How old are you?
A. 31 last September.
Q. What is your nationality?
A. American.
Q. Where are you living?
A. In Shanghai at the present.
Q. Did you enter into a contract with H. S. Honigsberg and Co., on or about the 10th day of February, 1920?
A. I did.
Q. Will you please state to the Court the facts leading up to the making of that contract?
A. I will. On the 9th of February I met Mr. Honigsberg at the St. Francis Hotel at San Francisco, introduced to him by Mr. E. L. Rick and we discussed the matter of entering his employment and he asked me if I had ever been in China before and I said no, I had not. He also asked me what position I held at the Marmon Agency and I told him I was shop foreman there, and he asked what salary I got there and I said $50.00 per week and Saturday afternoons and Sundays were double time which brought my salary up to approximately $60.00 per week and it had gone as high as $78.00 and $79.00 a week. I then asked him about the cost of living over here, which he told me was $150.00 to $160.00 per month, a man and his wife could live on that over here, knowing at the time that I was about to be married, and he then stated that he would give me $300.00 a month. I asked what —if it was in Mex., and he stated it did not make a great deal of difference about that as a dollar is a dollar the world over, but whatever Mr. Ferraggerio was paid he would pay me the same. On the day after I signed the contract he stated that he would give me $50.00 more on the month, that he didn't think I could get by on $300.00, and I asked him at that time particularly about the cost of living, which he stated again, as before, was about $150.00 to $160.00 a month that a man and his wife could live on over in this country, including servants to do all the work.

We then came to Shanghai and on the 1st day of April he came around to the car where I was working and stated that he was going to allow me $150.00 for the month of February, coming out here, and I asked him what his idea was and he stated that that was all that he would allow me, and I said that I had a contract that read from the 10th of February and I expected to be paid from that day, and he said if I had

NET OF TRAGEDY IS WOUND ABOUT RED CROSS SHIP

One Man Held For Shooting, Two For Selling Gun, Two For Robbery

Fate has wound a network of tragedy around the s.s. Hanamet, on which several tons of Red Cross supplies were brought to China from Siberia.

One man is under arrest on a charge of having shot a sampan coolie who refused to take him ashore from the vessel.

Two others are to appear in court on a charge of being in possession of a revolver for an unlawful purpose.

And two more, who are Chinese, are in custody on a charge of stealing $25 from the cabin of the second engineer of the steamer.

The latter two appeared before British Assessor Grant Jones and Magistrate Li in the Mixed Court yesterday and their case was remanded to the American assessor.

C. Graham Bushby, a commission agent, is the man charged with shooting the sampan coolie. Bushby is alleged to have gone aboard the vessel with another man, and to have wounded the coolie when he refused to respond to a hail to take the men on shore. Bushby's companion is said to have swam ashore after the shooting.

BAIL REFUSED

When he was called before Mr. G. W. King, in the British police court, yesterday Bushby was refused bail and the case was remanded to Tuesday.

While Detective Inspector J. Cruickshank and Detective Sergeant B. Conduit were examining Bushby's premises at 130 Tiendong Road three men called at the house. The officers charge that one of the men, mistaking the officers for the inhabitants of the place, offered to sell a pistol.

John Gasper and John McGuen were held in $200 bail each in connection with the case after a hearing before United States Commissioner N. E. Lurton yesterday. Albert Porton was released.

Gasper was charged by the detective inspector with having offered the pistol for sale and, when searched at the police station, it is charged that a "blackjack" was found in his possession. The other two men were unarmed.

FOUND "BLACKJACK"

Gasper told the police that he bought the pistol in New York,

ANFU PLANS RETURN OF TUAN; COUP IS FEARED

Chin And Sah Refuse Premiership And No Other Agreed On

WU PEI-FU MOVES

Clash Along The Kinhan Line Likely If Issue Is Forced

HSU RETURNING

Non-Anfu Tuchuns Will Not Support Marshal In His Efforts

BY NATHANIEL PEFFER
(Staff Wire to THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, May 21.—The term of leave of absence of Premier Chin Yung-peng expires on Monday, but he refuses to resume his premiership. Admiral Sah Chen-ping has also declared that he will refuse to continue officiating after Monday, ten day's since he assumed the acting premiership.

No other Premier has been agreed on and the political situation is again in a dilemma.

Rumors are current that a coup is likely to be effected. Marshal Tuan Chi-jui, according to reports, will return to power with an entire Anfu Cabinet.

In this connection, the movements of the troops of General Wu Pei-fu of Hunan, must be considered. If he withdraws under an arrangement with the South, General Chang Ching-yao, the Tuchun of Hunan and an Anfuite, faces elimination. General Wu's strong and well-disciplined army may also precipitate a battle with the Anfu troops along the Peking-Hankow Railway if General Tuan Chi-jui forces the issue.

If General Tuan returns and if the non-Anfu Tuchuns are removed from office, conflict in the Northern camp is certain as General Chang Tso-lin, the Fengtien Tuchun and others are not likely to submit.

The movement of troops near here is already under way. It is also reported that General Hsu Shu-cheng is returning from his visit in Urga. It is understood that the non-Anfu Tuchuns have already refused support or consent to General Tuan's return to office.

Two South Generals Cable Peace Offer To President Hsu

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, May 20.—Reports are current here that Generals Lu Yung-ting and Tsen Chun-hsuan have cabled to President Hsu Shih-chang offering to enter into peace negotiations on behalf of Kwangtung and Kwangsi, leaving Yunnan and the other south-western provinces to act for themselves, Chen Chin-tao and Wen Tsung-yao are said to have arranged the preliminary terms before coming to Canton. The authorities neither confirm nor deny the reports.

The presence of more than thirty battalions of soldiers in the East River districts is arousing suspicion amongst the inhabitants and the storage of military supplies is increasing the cost of living. If the sugar-cane, peanut and rice corps at Waichow fail, as is feared because of the heavy rains, famine cannot be avoided.

HUGE WAGE JUMP IN BRITAIN LAID TO FOOD PRICES

Over 500 Million Pound Increase In Two Years—War Bread May Be Used Again

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 19.—The Food Controller, Mr. Charles McCurdy, speaking in London yesterday evening, declared that before the abolition of food control could be secured, difficult periods must be passed through.

At the present moment the prices of foodstuffs in Great Britain were at the very highest point ever reached since the outbreak of war and in consequence the national wage bill had been permanently increased during the past two years by £500,000,000.

The world's prospective wheat crops, the Food Controller continued, were causing every Government in the world the greatest anxiety. Substantial decreases were reported from North America, Australia and the Argentine.

Today the Argentine was considering whether it would be necessary to prohibit the export of wheat from that country. Only the Indian wheat crop showed a surplus but it was not sufficient to balance the diminished output from other sources.

It was quite possible, Mr. McCurdy added, that within a few months the people of Great Britain would have to eat war bread of a quality only comparable to that of the most difficult period of the war. He urged people to eat New Zealand mutton and save flour for bread.

the bill, namely the establishment of a Federal system.

He pointed out that very difficult questions must first be considered, for example whether the second chamber should be nominated or elected, but he undertook that the Government would later submit a definite scheme.

Major General Sir John Seely urged that Mr. Long's proposal should not be delayed as delay in handling the Irish question might fatally affect relations with America and also the Empire.

SIR EDWARD TAKES FLING AT AMERICA

Sir Edward Carson deprecated the mention of America. It was high time, he said, that America, or the pretended spokesmen of America, learned to understand that we were still a great power, and not subordinate to America or any other power. We had never meddled with exclusively American questions even for electioneering purposes.

Colonel Sir Samuel Hoare subsequently withdrew his amendment.

An amendment moved by Lord Robert Cecil providing that North Ireland should remain in all respects part of the United Kingdom was opposed by the Government and rejected by 204 votes to 80.

An amendment proposed by Mr. J. R. Clynes in favor of deletion of the clause establishing separate parliaments for North and South Ireland was defeated by 213 votes to 61.

Asks Why Japanese Troops Are Allowed In C.E. Ry. Territory

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 21.—Chen Chia-yen, a member of the House of Representatives, has lodged an enquiry with the Government as to why Japanese troops are permitted in the Chinese Eastern Railway region, adding that he understands that a certain country has employed bandits to destroy railway property. Finally he asks Chen Lu to attend a private meeting of the House to explain matters.

EMPRESS ATTENDS JAPAN RED CROSS SOCIETY MEETING

Urges Organisation To Redouble Efforts Suitable To The Demands Of Today

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, May 20.—The annual general meeting of the Japanese Red Cross Society, held today in Hibiya Park, was attended by 30,000 persons.

The Empress addressed the meeting, congratulating the representatives of the members of the Society on the holding of their 28th annual meeting and also on the formation of the International League of Red Cross Societies. The Empress continued:

"The situation in the Far East is still too unsettled for the withdrawal of the Japanese troops from Siberia while the general condition of the world renders it impossible to foretell future developments. It is highly desirable that in these circumstances the Society should redouble its efforts in mapping out plans which will be most suitable to the demand of the times."

Prince Kan-in, replying, congratulated the Society on the restoration of peace and also on the despatching of delegates to the First Convention of the International League of Red Cross Societies, which is being held in Switzerland. He added:

"The Society has done its best in peace-time as well as in war and hopes further to expand the scope of its activities in view of the signs of the times and in order to justify the Imperial confidence in the organisation."

Shanghai Americans Join In Big Picnic At Jessfield Park At 4 This Afternoon

Athletic Carnival And Other Amusements Planned And Program Will End With Real Homeside Supper Spread On Lawn

Everything is going big for the great American get-together picnic this afternoon at Jessfield. More Americans than have ever assembled in Shanghai before are expected out at the park. It will be an All-American review which no patriotic son or daughter of Uncle Sam should miss. It is expected that at least two hundred sailors from the U.S.A. ships now in port will be present.

The sports of the afternoon are in charge of Mr. Giauque, which means that there will be something doing every minute. Beginning at 4 o'clock there will be races for the sprinters, for the snails; the old and young; fat and thin; men and women. And ball games? Well rather! The audience will be so thrilled that everybody will want to play. A number of original and amusing stunts are planned for the afternoon. Formality will be taboo and general good fellowship will be the keynote of the occasion.

A feature of general interest will be the picnic supper which is to be spread upon the lawn at 6 o'clock. Every viand will have the good old United States taste to it. There will be New England pork and beans, Southern chicken, the ever-popular potato salad, the ham-sandwich in its most toothsome form, the "fifty-seven varieties" of pickles, cakes with wonderful fillings and fudge icings, pics representing the gastronomic specialties of every section, California olives, and coffee with Yankee fixings.

The last fork has been counted out, all the utensils for the supper are ready, the paraphernalia for the sports is ready to be set up, the oats are ordered, and—most important of all—a large consignment of the merry-making spirit done up in individual packages has been obtained. Mr. Gold, of the Ford Garage, has promised to have several cars at the end of Bubbling Well car line which will ply to and fro fro 3:30 on in the afternoon, at 25 cents per passenger for the trip. Rickshaws will also be available.

Let every American pack up his troubles in his old kit bag and be on hand for the fun this afternoon. This is the invitation extended by the American Song Service League, under whose auspices the picnic is to be given.

Chinese To Govern Ex-German Holdings At Hankow, Tientsin

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 21.—With regard to the placing of the ex-German concessions at Hankow and Tientsin under Chinese Municipal Councils, the Cabinet has instructed the Legislative Bureau to draft the necessary special regulations. The Neiwupu is of opinion that the Councils should be under the direct control of the Central Government and in no wise controlled by provincial authorities, while the Sufapu urges the formation of a body of special police under the authority of the Ministry of Justice to police the above concessions. The Government is considering these recommendations as it is intended to establish model Chinese settlements in order to pave the way to the eventual abolition of extra-territoriality.

anything to settle to come down to his office and we would settle it.

The following morning Mr. Rich and myself went down to his office to get a settlement and he, as I walked in, he called Mr. Rich first and then called me later and handed me my agreement and asked me to sign where he filled in the amount, or the date of Feb. 10, or something to that effect, which I initialed it, and stated that he would pay me one hundred eighty some odd dollars and some cents for the month of February.

He also asked me about my wife's passage out here and which the question came up, and he asked me if I knew of any other or anybody that brought their families out here and paid their families expenses out here, and I said which I had, and I mentioned two families that came out on the Empress of Asia with us that went to work for—

Q. In what manner were you living in San Francisco previous to February 10?

Mr. Rose.—I object. It is not competent testimony.

A. Previous to February 10, there was a young gentleman and myself living in an apartment and it was costing us approximately, pleasure and all, around about $175.00 to $185.00 a month apiece.

Q. Did you stint yourself?

A. I did not. My wife to be at that time, our pleasure amounted to approximately $50.00 a month. There was never a Saturday night we didn't go out.

Q. Now what kind of a flat was this that you lived in?

A. A very nice flat; paid $65.00 a month for it.

Q. And your food, about what did that come to?

A. Our board came to around about $30.00 apiece; $28.00 to $30.00 apiece.

Q. And your clothes?

A. My clothes amounted to, on an average to about two or three suits a year and an overcoat, hats, and all that.

Q. Now were you saving any money at that time?

A. I was.

Q. About how much were you saving?

A. Around about $70.00 to $75.00 a month I was laying away.

Q. Did you tell Mr. Honigsberg those facts as to the manner in which you were living?

A. That was stated.

Q. Will you please state what you told him?

A. Yes, he asked me what I was making and I told him $50.00 a week and with overtime never less than $65.00 and from that up to $78.00 and $79.00 a week.

SEITZ ON STAND

Carl L. Seitz, who was the first witness called yesterday said he had lived in Shanghai since 1890. He was president of the Honigsberg Co., and looked after the finance of the firm and largely the business operations. Formerly he was general manager of the China Lumber Import and Export Co., and had been since its formation in 1901. He had seen the defendant once in his office about three weeks ago.

Why at your office?—I 'phoned to Mr. Honigsberg to bring him down to interview him about a certain story I had heard that he had applied for a post elsewhere. I asked him whether he had looked round for employment in the town, and he said "No," he had not. I asked him if he was sure about that and he said "Yes." I described to him a certain interview which it had been told to me had taken place in the office of Mr. Dodge, of Dodge and Seymour. Mr. Dodge had asked him—

Mr. Bryan objected, as it made no difference if Jones had applied to 50 firms it had nothing to do with that case.

The Court: I am not so sure.

Mr. Bryan contended that the issue was a question of representation.

His Honor admitted that was one of the issues. As the evidence developed they found that he had applied for employment elsewhere and had been offered an increase of salary. He had to consider what was the real ground of his leaving his employment. A statement by Mr. Dodge was hearsay. What had taken place between the defendant and the witness was permissible.

"A CENT ON THE DOLLAR"

Witness said that he went on to describe that Mr. Dodge had asked him whether he was under any obligation to Honigsberg and Co. in any shape or form and he understood that Jones answered that he was not. Mr. Seitz asked Jones whether that was true or not, and the defendant (who was rather upset) in a half-hearted way admitted the truth of the story. He then showed Jones his agreement with Messrs. Honigsberg and Co. and asked him whether he had signed that. He (defendant) said he had signed it. "Then," said Mr. Seitz, "I expressed my opinion of Mr. Jones as a man, and that he was worth about one cent on a dollar. I gave him some views I held about Americans who came out to China and failed to fulfil their obligations in a clean way. I then dismissed him and told him to go back to work."

Did he make any complaint about anything in his contract?—He mumbled something about not carrying out the agreement. He did not consider he was bound by it. I did not catch the words exactly.

Did he make any complaints to you as to the conditions existing here not being what they had been represented to him?—No.

At any time?—No. I had no more conversation with him.

CALLS WAGE REASONABLE

Witness further stated that the same contract was given Jones as to the other men. Jones was in receipt of $350 Mex. a month. He did not know how it compared with others in the automobile business but he knew that it was about the same as was paid to mechanics in sawmill work. It was a reasonable wage for that class of work. Details as to the agreement were given by the witness, who stated that $50 had also been handed to the defendant by the firm towards traveling expenses. The firm contemplated opening a branch in Peking this year, and owing to Jones having left them they were short of a mechanic and they were unable to proceed with the establishment of the Peking garage. There were three white men now employed as mechanics. They were cabling to America and the Philippines for a man, but if they succeeded in getting one from the States it would take two and perhaps three months for a man to arrive here.

What do you say as to the efficiency of a new man during his first few months in China?—During the first three months he is more or less helpless as he is unable to direct Chinese labor, and cannot speak pidgin English, later when he is able to handle the work under local conditions he begins to be useful.

Is the work of the mechanics manual or supervisory to a large extent?—If a man works himself he lowers his value, but he can teach and see that the others do it right.

You have lived here?—Since 1890.

And have had married men in your employ?—Lots of them.

THE COST OF LIVING

The cost of living for men like a mechanic, say for board and lodging? Ordinary $90 to $100 per month for boarding house accommodation, and about $50 or $60 more per month for the wife. Of late owing to the increased cost of living the rates in the hotels and boarding houses have gone up.

Last December or January a man and wife could obtain a place for $150 or $160 a month?—Yes, quite easily.

By Mr. Bryan: Witness did not mean that Mr. Jones should leave his employment when he said that there were enough rotters in Shanghai already and that he was worth 1 cent on a dollar. That applied to Jones as a man not as a mechanic.

Is it customary for Honigsberg and Co., to keep men in their employ who are worth 1 cent a dollar?—I don't know.

You want to keep Jones in your employ although he is only worth 1 cent a dollar?—I said as a man.

You said you could get board and lodging last autumn for $160?—Yes.

Tell me the places.—Give me the hong list and I will show you places in Hongkew as well as in Bubbling Well.

You know you could not get a place in any boarding house last year for less than $180?—I know men in the employ of the Co. did get it, Mr. Watson and Mr. Ricks. There has been an increase in the rates.

Can a married man live comfortably on $150 a month?—He can get board and lodging.

He can not live! Do you call that living?—He has his salary besides.

Do you call board and lodging living?—It is actual living expense.

How about clothes?—It is an accessory.

Clothing is not needed?—Yes, but a man gets wages.

What are the costs of living?—Man and wife $160 to $180 a month.

How much does it cost you to live a month?—Tls. 250.

You could not live on $150?—If I had to I would do so.

Is a sawmill man considered to be on the same level as an automobile mechanic?—Same more or less. Same class of work.

The sawmill men get less than the automobile mechanics?—I don't know.

MILL VS. AUTO MEN

Can the sawmill men do the automobile work?—I don't know. May be. A good mechanic can do almost anything.

He can move Shanghai to Woosung?—I am talking about machinery.

In answer to further questions witness said there now remained three white mechanics. Last year there were less, but the business had grown. They had the Filipinos also, who were good mechanics.

These men get $60 to $100 a month.

The Court inquired what was the object of asking such a question.

Mr. Bryan desired to emphasise the scale paid.

In answer to Mr. Rose witness said that since he had taken control the business had increased a great deal.

Mr. Honigsberg, recalled, said that he told Jones in San Francisco that he could live on $130 to $160 a month.

Mr. Bryan: That he could save money on $350 a month?—Yes.

Is it customary for Honigsberg and Co. to keep rotters in their employ and men worth 1 cent in the dollar?—That applied to the man and not to the mechanic.

How long have you lived in Shanghai?—Ten years.

You are acquainted with living conditions here?—Yes.

You know the houses now being built by the Credit Foncier?—Yes, I have seen them.

What are they rented for?—Tls. 100. It was never a question of Jones having a home but it was a question of living in a boarding house as a mechanic usually will do.

Witness said that he had obtained accommodation this month at Mrs. Wilder's for $160 a month. Cost depended upon the taste of the people.

Do you call board and lodging living? Yes.

How about clothes: are they accessories as Mr. Seitz says?—Yes, accessories or necessities.

Accessories or luxuries which are not needed?—I would not say that.

What is an automobile accessory?—Something necessary for one's comfort or safety.

"CLOTHES ARE NECESSARY"

Clothes are necessary, and are in the cost of living?—It costs you to get them.

Clothes get into the cost of living?—No, they do not as I know the term in Shanghai or China.

You cannot live on $150 a month?—No, my expenditure is 200 a month. I have lived on $130 and less.

During one of the ten years you referred to—perhaps nine years ago?—I took it from the standpoint of a mechanic. I gave the information as I knew it in November last year when I left Shanghai.

You have had quite a good many men in your employ?—Quite a few

You have had a good deal of trouble with them?—From theft and other things, yes.

A good deal of trouble over the high cost of living?—None whatsoever.

Are you absolutely sure of that?—Yes.

Did you employ a man named Whittmore?—Yes, he was on the stand yesterday.

You represented to him that he could live here for $150 a month?—Yes, Mr. H. L. Ricks and Mr. Watson lived on it.

You "fired" him without any justification or excuse?—I do not think it is for you to say so.

It was not over the high cost of living. It cost him more than $150 to live?—You had better ask him. I don't know. Living at the Astor House costs more than in a boarding house.

The Chinese do most of the work at your place?—Yes, the white men supervise.

Mr. Bryan examined witness as to a telephone call which was made on Mr. Silas yesterday.

You asked him to come and see you? Yes.

You offered him (and he was a witness the previous day) a position with Honigsberg and Co.?—I did not. I asked him if he knew of a stenographer, and then I asked him if he was perfectly satisfied with the position he occupied now.

DENIES OFFER

You offered him something very good?—No, I told him——

Mr. Rose objected.

Mr. Bryan insisted that he was going to impeach the credibility of the witness. Mr. Honigsberg had approached a witness and offered him a good position and tried to justify——

Mr. Rose suggested that no mud be thrown.

Mr. Bryan contended that mud would stick—mud would out.

You said that he had been treated well by you?—I asked was he satisfied with the treatment he had had with us, I deny having made any such statement as to a good offer.

You cannot live on $300 a month as reasonable expense?—I do not know what is reasonable.

What are reasonable expenses?—I can tell a mechanic's, and good board and lodging in Shanghai at that time could be had for $130 to $160 a month.

Living?—My understanding of living is board and lodging as applied to Shanghai.

Mr. Seth, of the firm of auditors, Seth, Mancell and McLure, said he was in charge of the books of the firm. The travelling expenses paid to Jones were: Fare 288 gold dollars, expenses 50, telegrams, 14.60, expenses of passport 2, and they had paid in wages to him 595.87. Railway transportation amounted to $45.76. All gold dollars. The total was $996.23.

Mr. Silas having been further examined, the case was closed and judgment was reserved.

is a virtue in a motor truck, more than in any other form of mechanical transportation. The degree of year-in and year-out efficiency in a motor truck is measured by its owner in dollars and cents. Before a wise buyer, therefore, listens to the salesman he is going to satisfy himself from a reliable source of the truck's previous performances. NEW MEMBERS OF KNIGHTS OF BATH ARE INSTALLED

Impressive Ceremony On May 18 Is First Of Its Kind Since 1913

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 18.—The ceremony of the installation of the Knights of the Order of the Bath, which has not been held since 1913, took place at Westminster Abbey today.

The function was singularly beautiful and impressive. An imposing procession of about sixty Knights Grand Cross of the Bath, including Lord Rawlinson, Lord Jellicoe, the Earl of Wemyss, Earl Beatty and Earl Haig, wearing the magnificent crimson robes of the Order, followed by the Duke of Connaught as Great Master, and finally by the King, marched to Henry VII Chapel where the elaborate private ceremonial of the installation was carried out. After the conclusion of this ceremony the new Knights were conducted to their stalls and seated under their own banners.

The oaths were then administered and the ceremony in the Chapel ended by the Knights drawing their swords and holding them by the blade before the altar.

The procession then returned to the Abbey and the proceedings came to an end with the singing of the Te Deum, the National Anthem and the Hymn "For all Saints."

The Court has held two sittings, at neither of which Wong was present and another sitting will be held before a decision is reached.

Stabbing Case Will Be Probed By Police

Further investigation is to be made in the case wherein a Chinese stabbed another to death and then inflicted wounds on himself Thursday evening. The matter was brought before British Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Loh in the Mixed Court yesterday and continued.

The police thus far have been unable to determine the motive for the act. It was said that the men, who were hawkers, quarreled over the peeling of sugar cane but the evidence was so involved that it was thought advisable to make further inquiry before going ahead with the case.

Helena Ball Team Playing Here Today

A return game is to be played between the baseball teams representing the U.S.S. Helena and the Shanghai Club this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The game will be played at the Recreation Grounds.

Plans are being made by the Shanghai team for a game for tomorrow. It was hoped that arrangements could be made to match the locals with the American Engineers who are here on their way home from Siberia but as they are to sail on the Empress of Asia this evening it will be impossible.

It is expected that other arrangements will be made.

CHICAGO 4; WASEDA 2

Tokio, May 19.—The second match of baseball between the teams of the Chicago University and that of the Waseda University was held on May 19 and the Chicago team had a victory with a score of 4 to 2.

KIANGWAN RACES TODAY

A program of eleven events make up the opening day's card today of the sixty-fifth meeting of the International Recreation Club at Kiangwan. The big event of the day is the fifth race, The Derby Cup for griffins of 1920, with a purse of $3,000. The usual transportation service by special train and by motor from the various garages will be provided. The first saddling bell will ring at 1:30 o'clock today.

Chinese Junks

Twenty-six types of Chinese junks are depicted in a neatly gotten-up book by Mr. Ivon A. Donnelly and has been published by Messrs. Kelly and Walsh. The work is done in black and white and is of great interest to those who are interested in marine art.

The types as depicted in the book are the Pechili and Chefoo Traders, the Yentai or Chefoo trader, the Shantung coast fisher and Shantung fisher off Liukungtao, the Shantung trader in Shitan Bay, the Yangtsze lorcha, the Tsungming cotton junk, the Chusan Archipelago fisher, the Hangchow Bay fisher and trader and the Southern Hangchow trader, the Ningpo trader off Chinhai, the Wenchow fisher, the Santuao trader, the Foochow pole junk and the Foochow deep sea and longshore fishers, the Amoy trader and fisher, the Formosan trader on the West Coast and the Formosan fisher and east coast fisher, the Swatow and Hongkong fishers and the Hongkong trader.

China's junks comprise the largest part of the country's merchantile marine. They are engaged in the home trade and foreigners do not have occasion to take much interest in them, because they seldom have to use them for travel or commerce. The book opens up a vast field for artists and writers.

McTyeire Sorority Fete Is Brilliant Success; Will Be Repeated Today

Three Thousand Spectators Throng Former German Club On First Day Of Picturesque Bazaar; Operetta Is Excellently Produced

The McTyeire Sorority Fete program was presented as scheduled yesterday at the former German Club. More than 3,000 spectators attended and the affair was a pronounced success. The entire program will be repeated today and those who were unable to be present yesterday should make it a point to be there today, when the clubhouse will commence to hum with excitement at 3 o'clock.

The club was artistically decorated for the occasion. Detachments of boy scouts lined up at the entrance to serve as ushers. Over the main arch were hoisted the Chinese national colors as well as the flags of the United States, Great Britain, France, and Italy. Beautiful potted plants, bamboos and bunting adorned the hall.

At the left of the hall is the fishing pool with hundreds of useful present to be acquired by anglers. Further on the bargain counter was thronged to capacity. Other interesting booths in the hall are the novelty corner and that for toilet articles.

ATTRACTIVE TEA ROOM

Real service is demonstrated in the tea room, where 20 attractive tables occupied the spacious room and pretty maids hustled round to serve patrons. Cakes, pies and sandwiches were offered and delicious China tea, served.

On the ground floor are the two rooms occupied by the picturesque bazaar. One exhibited embroideries, laces, knitting goods, Chinese native products, toys for the young and candy galore. The other displayed antiques, Foochow lacquer ware, Kiangsi Chinaware, silverware and carved ivory and pictures.

Beautiful flowers lined the stairway.

Two dining rooms upstairs catered to the needs of the customers. White-aproned school girls waited at the tables.

Three programs of entertainment were staged, each of which would have done credit to any professional company. At 3:30 o'clock, the children's entertainment commenced. A variety show was produced at 6 o'clock and the entire program was brought to a fitting climax, with the production at night of the comic operetta, "Sylvia," which deserves popular appreciation in view of the limited time in which the cast rehearsed.

PLOT OF THE PLAY

The plot of the play follows:

Act 1. Tired of her betrothed, Sylvia wanders into the hayfield where she overhears Betty bemoaning her fate and wishing she were engaged to marry a nobleman instead of honest William. Sylvia suggests that, as they each envy the other her lot, they exchange places for the rest of the day, that Sylvia masquerades as the farmer's daughter and Betty, as the maid of honor to the Queen. Betty tells of a flower called, "Cupid Eye," which would blind the poet and the farmer to the fact that such an exchange has been made. The two girls set off to find the magic flower and change costumes.

Meanwhile, Betty's companion who had left her in the hayfield, returns to find her. They meet two farm lads on their way to the ploughfield and promise to meet them at the stile on their way home from work.

A cloud appears in the sky which throws them into great consternation as they fear rain. When Prince Tobbytum appears they ask him what the weather will be. Indignantly, he informs them who he is and they apologise. He accepts their apology and offers to allow them to kiss his cheek. They pretend to accept, but instead dance about him, pelting him with flowers until he escapes.

THE GIRL RETURNS

Sylvia and Betty return, dressed in each others' clothes and with the magic flower in their possession. Betty successfully fools de Lacey and Sylvia also successfully fools William; de Lacey and Betty set forth to stroll through the woods and lanes and William drags Sylvia off to help him weed the potato patch.

Robin sounds the dinner horn and the haymakers return to the hayfield to spend the noon day hour.

Act 2. Towards the close of the afternoon, the haymakers rest from their toil and stroll to and fro in the cool of the day. The farmers' daughters set forth on their walk to the stile.

Sylvia, worn out with her experience in the afternoon, returns to the field. Betty rushes in having run away from de Lacey and a bull. Each girl declares that hereafter she will be content with her own lot. They retire to exchange dresses and set off to search for the poet and the farmer. Unfortunately their prank is likely to have serious consequences, for the Lady Arabella saw Sylvia carried over the brook by the farmer and the Lady Areminta saw de Lacey and Betty walking arm in arm. This news is reported to Prince Tobbytum, who resolves to expose Sylvia that night before Court.

PRINCE TRIES MISCHIEF

William, acompanied by the farmer's daughters and farm lads, in searching for Betty, run into de Lacey who is looking for Sylvia. The two men are about to come to blows when Sylvia and Betty separate them.

The Ladies Arabella and Areminta, thinking it possible they may have been mistaken, ask the prince not to mention what they have told him. Prince Tobbytum tries to make mischief but is foiled. A song of greeting to the harvest moon, rising over the treetops, ends the evening and all wend their way homewards.

NET OF TRAGEDY IS WOUND ABOUT RED CROSS SHIP

and, needing money, had attempted to sell it. He said he picked up the blackjack in "The Trenches."

Inspector T. Mellows of the River Police appeared in the British police court for the prosecution of Bushby. He asked for a remand because of the condition of the wounded coolie from whose body two bullets are yet to be extracted.

Evidence in the preliminary hearing of Bushby indicated that drugs played a part in the case. Inspector Mellows testified that when he arrested the accused man at the Astor Bar Bushby's first question was:

"Is the man dead?"

The inspector said he warned his prisoner of the seriousness of the charge and to be careful what he said. He said Bushby's reply was:

BLAMES "DOPE"

"That's all right, old man, please take your hands off me and I will tell you all about it. It is this damned dope; I went on board the ship last night and had $5,000 at stake on this business."

He told the inspector that the people on board the ship would not allow the sampan to come and take him and his companion off, according to the testimony, and added:

"I had to do it. I plugged him and threw the revolver into the river."

The officer said the accused man was in a dazed condition when he was arrested. At the Hongkew station he was searched and in his stockings were found four packets of opium and a bottle of cocaine.

In the search of the house at 130 Tiendong Road the officers found two pistol magazine clips, an opium smoker's "layout" and three opium pipes.

Sugar Cane Cause Of Fatal Duel; One Dead, One Injured

Hawker Stabs Himself After Slaying Competitor Is Charge By Police

Methods of peeling sugar cane led to a dispute that resulted in the death of one man and the severe injury of another, according to police reports yesterday. The inquest will be held as soon as the wounded man, who is accused of slaying his fellow-countryman, is able to leave the hospital.

It is said that the two men, Chinese hawkers, entered a dispute in Sin Kee Pang Road about the peeling of sugar cane. One of the men is charged with having drawn a knife with which he inflicted mortal injuries on his competitor.

Realising the seriousness of the offense the man is said to have then attempted to commit suicide by stabbing himself. He was unsuccessful in the attempt, however, and it was said last night that he would recover from the wound.

The matter was brought before British Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Loh in the Mixed Court yesterday and continued pending the recovery of the man now in hospital.

CHINESE PLAN BIG RECEPTION TO U.S. ENVOY

Following the announcement of the reception to be accorded to the United States Minister to China, Mr. Charles Richard Crane, local Chinese organisations and shopkeepers yesterday planned an enthusiastic reception to be given him upon his arrival here on Monday.

Although the sojourn of Mr. and Mrs. Crane in Shanghai will last but one day, the Chinese authorities and residents will give the minister a hearty welcome.

Representatives of practically all the local organisations will go to the wharf of the China Mail to greet Mr. Crane. Eight organisations will be host to Mr. and Mrs. Crane at the fomer German Club at a reception at 2 o'clock.

Certain branch street unions have suggested the hoisting of the national colors for one day, but this will be decided on at a conference between Street Union officers and committeemen of the Chamber of Commerce today.

At five o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Crane will be guests at a reception to be given by General Wang Yi-tang, the Northern peace delegate, Admiral K. K. Lang, Chief of the Chinese Navy, General Ho Fung-ling, the Acting Defense Commissioner and Mr. Yang Tcheng, Special Envoy of Foreign Affairs, at the latter's bureau on Bubbling Well Road.

NAVY MEN GUESTS OF NAVY Y.M.C.A.

Open house at the Navy Y. M. C. A. has been maintained each evening this week for the benefit of sailors from the destroyers and the gunboats of the River Division. Moving picture shows together with music and refreshments have furnished the diversion in the building.

On Monday a baseball game was arranged between the Shanghai Baseball Club and the team of U.S.S. Helena. A return game is to be played at the Race Course at 2:30 p.m. today.

In the afternoon about one hundred sailors expect to attend the picnic of the American Song Service Association at Jessfield Park. Special transportation has been arranged by the "Y."

At 7 tonight there will be a basketball game between the men of U.S.S. Helena and U.S.S. Villalobos.

Episcopalians Attention!

Due to a mistaken impression created by the wording of a report published in Thursday's CHINA PRESS the item in question is reprinted from the American Song Service Bulletin as follows:

Americans have been coming to China in larger numbers of late and many of them come to Shanghai to live. The Bishop often receives letters from Rectors of parishes at home recommending some member of our Church to his care. There are many people in Shanghai who have been baptised in the Church at home, or who are Communicants, and in order that we may be of service to them the Rev. C. F. McRae has been appointed (in addition to his other work) to have the charge of such work as we can do for American Churchmen and Church women in Shanghai. The first step which he is taking is to obtain a list of the names and addresses of all members of our Church residing in Shanghai, and he will be much obliged if every one will help him to compile such a list. Mr. McRae's address is: 1410 Avenue Edward VII.

A pleasant function took place at the Masonic Club last night when Captain Josephsen of the tug Alexandra, was guest of honor of his brother Masons of the Cosmopolitan lodge at the Masonic Club.

Captain Josephsen, is to leave on May 29 on a well earned holiday.

The Cosmopolitan lodge gave a dinner in his honor and a large number of members sat down to dinner to wish him and his family a safe and pleasant voyage home and a good holiday.

During the dinner several speeches were made, the principal one by Mr. G. Mollison who, on behalf of his brother Masons, presented him with a traveling toilet set as a token of esteem from the members and a token of appreciation for the good work which he has done for the lodge. A suitable reply was made by Captain Josephson wherein he expressed his appreciation of the esteem he is held in not only by his brother Masons but also by all the seafaring people who have come in contact with him.

Columbia Graduate Is Admitted To Bar

Dr. Chao Soule Bok Is To Practise Before Court In Shanghai

At the Mixed Court this morning, before Mr. Tenney, Assessor, and Mr. Kuan, Magistrate, Dr. Chao Soule-bok was admitted to practise on motion of Mr. L. K. Kentwell, barrister, who said it was a pleasant duty devolved on him in presenting to the Court his friend and class-mate for admission to practise at the Bar of that Court.

Mr. Kentwell said that Dr. Bok, who has had a distinguished career as a schodar, teacher, and jurist, is a graduate of both the Law School and the Post Graduate School of Political Science of Columbia University, New York, and during the exciting period of 1911-1912, when the tottering Manchu Throne was swept down by the force of the first revolution, Dr. Bok was unanimously chosen as speaker of the first Republican Assembly at Nanking and subsequently became President of the Tangshan Engineering College of the Ministry of Communications at Tangshan. In 1918, he accepted the Portfolio of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Constitutional Government at Canton, and during his tenure of office, considerable legal reforms along the line of western jurisprudence were successfully introduced into the courts of the Southwest Government. Owing to party differences, Dr. Bok recently resigned his portfolio.

The Court expressed pleasure in admitting Dr. Bok to practise at the Bar of that court and subsequently he signed the roll.

Kelantan Rubber Estates Meeting

The fourth annual general meeting of the Shanghai Kelantan Rubber Estates, Ltd., was held at 2 Kiukiang Road yesterday afternoon. Mr. N. G. Maitland, presided and was supported by Mr. Speelman and Pere F. Sallou, directors and Mr. C. J. L. Stewart and Mr. E. A. Prince.

After the notice calling the meeting was read, the chairman spoke as follows:

"The annual report and accounts have been in your hands for the prescribed period and I will, with your permission, take them as read.

"A complete summary regarding working of the estate is shown in the report and leaves me very little to say. Since the last report, the planted area has been increased by 26 acres and approximately 69 acres have been felled and will be planted up as labor permits. I regret to say that wild pig caused a little damage in the new extensions and steps are being considered to combat this form of nuisance.

"Our output exceeded the estimate by the small margin of 750 lbs. The result is satisfactory considering that for the first six months our crop totalled only 74,200 lbs. and it appeared doubtful if the estimate would be reached. During the latter six months of the year, however, excellent yields were obtained with the result that we harvested, from July to December, 111,548 lbs., a monthly average of 18,591 lbs. against an average of 12,370 for the first half of the year. The output for the current year is estimated at 195,000 lbs. and given normal conditions, this figure should be attained.

"The f.o.b. cost of production shows a slight reduction on the previous year's figures. This includes a loss on rice of .15d. per pound. As you are no doubt aware, it has been the custom of most of the companies to sell rice to the coolies at a much less cost than the very high price at which it can be obtained. This is considered preferable to the increase in wages which would otherwise be necessary.

"The average cost of weeding over the whole estate was $1.32 per acre per month against $1.73 for the previous year. The figure is still somewhat on the high side but this includes the cost of ploughing the non-producing area and is the only method that can give satisfactory results in a country where labor is scarce. Besides serving the purpose of weeding, I might say that ploughing is an excellent form of cultivation and its good results are quite evident.

"The estate is very free from any serious disease. The general position in respect of labor is not satisfactory. There are sufficient tappers but weeders are scarce. We have been almost entirely dependent on Chinese labor and these are gradually leaving the estate to work on the railway where better rates are being paid.

"It should not be very long before the railway which passes through Kuala Geh, the next door estate, will be connected with Penang. When this is completed the labor problem in Kelantan will be solved as we shall then be able to get a Tamil force direct from Penang to the estate by rail.

"Now, turning to the accounts the result of the year's working cannot be regarded as unsatisfactory. Although better prices were obtained, exchange was an adverse factor. The profit for the year amounted to $2,306.91 which includes an amount of taels 10,016.64 debenture interest.

"With regard to the loan account of taels 18,781.20 appearing in the balance sheet, this sum represents unpaid debenture interest for 18 months. The debenture holders have again kindly consented to allow this amount to remain as a loan to the company, free of interest. At the last annual general meeting, you were informed that the directors were considering a scheme in order to obtain funds sufficient to pay outstanding liabilities and provide capital for extensions.

"Regarding this point, the directors are now considering a scheme of reconstruction which will not only allow us to pay off outstanding liabilities but will also enable us to bring practically the whole estate into bearing. The plan for the reconstruction is still in the indefinite stage but your directors hope to be in a position to put the whole matter before you in a few month's time.

"In order to comply with the new Order in Council, the general managership and secretaryship of the company was transferred to Messrs. A. R. Burkill and Sons.

"Before concluding, I would like to take this opportunity of recording the directors' appreciation of the work done by the late secretaries and general managers, Messrs. Meyer and Measor and also by the Straits agents and the estate manager.

"I now propose the first resolution: 'That the report and accounts for the year ended December 31, 1919, as printed and circulated be passed.' This is seconded by Pere Sallou. and before putting this resolution to the meeting, I shall be pleased to do my best to answer any questions shareholders may wish to ask with regard to the estate or the accounts."

No questions being asked, the following resolutions were proposed and adopted:—

"That the report and accounts for the year ended December 31, 1919 as printed and circulated be passed."

Proposed by Mr. N. G. Maitland and seconded by Pere F. Sallou.

"That Mr. M. Speelman be re-elected a director of the company."

Proposed by Mr. C. J. L. Stewart and seconded by Mr. E. A. Prince.

"That the appointment of Mr. J. V. C. Davis as a director of the company be confirmed."

Proposed by Mr. N. G. Maitland and seconded by Mr. E. A. Prince.

"That Messrs. Lowe, Bingham & Matthews be elected auditors to the company at an annual remuneration of taels 300 for Shanghai and Singapore."

Proposed by Mr. C. J. L. Stewart and seconded by Pere F. Sallou.

The attendance represented 33,429 shares.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in civilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

With Mr. William P. Lambe in the chair the annual meeting of the shareholders of the North China Insurance Company, Ltd., was held yesterday at 7 Kiukiang Road. Shares represented totaled 9,253.

Those present were:

Directors—Messrs: Wm. P. Lambe, chairman, Chas. M. Bain, R. McE. Dalgliesh, J. T. Disselduff, W. A. Argent, C. G. S. Mackie.

Acting Secretary and General Manager Mr. W. Nation and Messrs. W. E. Smith, C. F. Harris, R. Botelho, F. X. Tavares, E. J. Pereira.

RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions adopted were:

First Resolution.—That the report and accounts as now presented be accepted and passed. Proposed by Mr. W. P. Lambe, seconded by Mr. C. M. Bain.

Second Resolution.—Working Account 1918. That £20,000 be transferred to Reinsurance Fund and the remainder transferred to Underwriting Reserve Account closing the Account for 1918. Working Account 1919. That an Interim Dividend of 15 percent on the paid-up Capital be paid, that a bonus of 20 percent upon contributory marine premiums, subject to income tax, be paid, both payable at exchange 6/4¼ per Tael, and that the remainder be carried forward. Proposed by Mr. W. P. Lambe, seconded by Mr. R. McE. Dalgliesh.

Third Resolution.—That Messrs. Lambe, Bain, Dalgliesh, Disselduff, Argent and Mackie be re-elected Directors of the Company, and that the remuneration of the Directors be Taels six thousand per annum. Proposed by Mr. W. E. Smith, seconded by Mr. C. F. Harris.

Fouth Resolution.—That Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews be re-elected Auditors of the Company, and that the remuneration of the Auditors be Taels one thousand per annum. Proposed by Mr. C. F. Harris, seconded by Mr. W. E. Smith.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

The Chairman said:

"Gentlemen.—Our annual meeting is held in May this year to bring it into line with that of the Union Insurance Society of Canton, Ltd.

"The printed report and statement of accounts having been in your hands for some time, I propose with your permission to take them as read.

"Your Directors have, with much regret, to record the death of Mr. Binder. Mr. Binder had been a member of the Board since 1918 and his sound advice was much valued by his colleagues. It is also with much regret that your Directors record the death of Mr. W. D. Little, which occurred at home on March 22 last. Mr. Little was a member of this Board from 1890 to 1920 when he retired from the East, and from 1916 until his death he was a member of the Company's London Committee.

"Turning now to the Accounts, your Directors considered it advisable to write down the Company's Sterling Securities to their market value at the end of last year. The transfer of Taels 75,000 to Exchange and Investment Fluctuation account was necessary owing to the sharp rise in exchange last year and in order to comply with the requirements of the Assurance Companies Act 1909.

NO DIVIDEND CHANGE

"No change is made in the Interim Dividend recommended, but your Directors recommended that the Bonus to Contributors be increased to 20 percent which is the same as that paid by the Union Insurance Society of Canton, Limited.

"You will probably have seen the note in the local press recently, stating that this building has been sold. The ground floor offices of the "Union" building, No. 4 The Bund, have now been vacated and after the necessary alterations have been made, we shall move our offices there about July next.

"Before putting the resolutions to the meeting I shall be pleased to answer any questions."

'That Most Distressful Country'

NEVER in modern times has John Bull's Other Island presented to the world in general and to the British Empire in particular a crisis so appalling, so intense and so replete with possibilities of unforgettable evil, as that to which we are witness today.

The Sinn Feiners obviously have gone mad. It is impossible for them to win their object by force, yet they have abandoned all else which might have served their purpose, and put their full reliance in a policy of ruthless savagery. They have attempted to slash and slaughter themselves asunder from the British Empire. They have put all their eggs in one basket and it is a basket that has no bottom. And they have done all this against the advice of their ablest and staunchest supporters in America. The Irish-American leaders have constantly warned them against the very methods they have adopted.

Apparently the so-called Terrorists among The Sinn Feiners have got out of hand. Fifty police barracks burned and 20 tax offices raided in a night! Scores of sanguinary outrages perpetrated daily! A reign of Terror from one end of Ireland to the other! They have left the British Government no recourse other than that of moving in a large military force and, at whatever cost, restoring order in "that most distressful country."

And despatches of the last few days disclose that that is precisely what Great Britain has determined to do. Thus we have the Lord Chancellor declaring in the House of Lords that it is the policy of the Government, whether the struggle be short or long, to employ the whole available resources of Britain to restore law and order in Ireland and render utterly impossible the secessionary campaign at present in progress."

At the same time the British Government announces a lightening of the repressive and coercive restrictions which have been in effect recently; that is, offenders will not be imprisoned without trial and legal processes will be restored. But in the same paragraph it promises the most vigorous suppression of violence. Unlimited numbers of troops are being sent to enforce this order. Small flying columns of cavalry and armored cars are being formed to raid Terrorist assemblies. "All prisoners taken in such raids will be taken, and hanged if convicted of capital offenses." The policy is one of conciliation accompanied by relentless war on the Terrorists.

What it will lead to cannot be foreseen. And perhaps speculation in that regard is better left to each reader's own imagination. The certainty is, as the British Government announces, that peace and order are, at whatever cost, to be restored in Ireland. Whether that is to be accomplished by wading through "blood up to the bridles," or without further bloodshed at all, rests entirely with the Terrorists. But one way or the other Ireland is to have peace.

Meantime the debate on the Home Rule Bill proceeds in Parliament. Many of our readers may not be familiar with the provisions of this bill, and if so, they will not grasp the meaning of the amendments proposed and rejected as reported in Reuter's despatches this morning. We therefore append a summary of it. And in tomorrow's CHINA PRESS we are publishing the complete report of the Commission to Ireland of the British Parliamentary Labor Party, which is of utmost political concern in view of the rising power of the Labor Party in Britain. The members of the Commission were Mr. Arthur Henderson, Mr. H. S. Lindsay and Mr. William Adamson. Here, meantime, is the substance of the Home Rule Bill:

This Bill as it was formally introduced in the House of Commons on February 27, provides for a Parliament of 52 members for Northern Ireland which is to consist of the counties of Londonderry, Antrim, Down, Armagh, Fermanagh and Tyrone, and the parliamentary boroughs of Belfast and Londonderry, (one-third of Tyrone at the elections of 1918 was Sinn Fein, and one-third Nationalist). The remaining portion, or Southern Ireland, is to have a Parliament of 128 members, members in both cases to be elected by proportional representation. The powers of either of these Parliaments are not to be affected by any vacancy therein, or by any disqualification of any member.

Besides the Provincial Parliaments there is to be a Council of Ireland consisting of a President appointed by the Crown, and twenty members from each Parliament. This Council is to deal with legislation affecting both Northern and Southern Ireland. At any time by joint action of the Provincial Parliaments the Council may be displaced by a single Parliament of one or two houses with the King at its head, and this Parliament may determine its own membership, mode of elections, etc., and may pass legislation dealing with the two sections of Ireland, and any other legislation delegated to it by joint action of the separate Parliaments.

The Provincial Parliaments may pass all legislation concerning their respective areas, except in matters reserved to the Imperial Parliament, such as legislation relating to peace and war, the army and navy, treason, aliens and naturalisation, foreign trade, and coinage. They may levy taxes except customs and excise duties, and excess profits and income taxes, which are reserved to and collected by the Imperial Parliament. Ireland's share of the reserved taxes will be returned to her each year. The separate Parliaments may not pass any appropriation bills unless they are recommended by the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. No religious restrictions may be imposed for any reason.

The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, appointed by the Crown, is to be the executive. He is to appoint his own heads of departments, who, together with others whom he may select, are to be Provincial Ministers, to hold office during his pleasure. The Provincial Ministers form the Executive Committee of the Privy Council of Ireland to advise the Lord Lieutenant in the exercise of his duties.

Imperial control of the Royal Irish Constabulary and of the Metropolitan Police is to be retained for three years only, after which it is be placed in the hands of the Provincial Parliaments, which are to be officially responsible for the maintenance of law and order. During the three remaining years of Government control, the police and constabulary are to be governed by a committee of three, one chosen from each Provincial Parliament and one appointed by the Crown. The postal service and savings banks are to be administered by the Imperial Parliament until after the date of the dissolution of the Council of Ireland and the establishment of the joint Parliament, mentioned above, or by a joint Act of the two Parliaments.

An Imperial levy of 18,000,000 pounds is to be laid annually for two years. At the end of that time the amount of the levy is to be re-determined, depending upon the total annual income, by a Joint Exchequer Board. The amount may be fixed anew at five-year intervals. As long as the levy is 18,000,000 pounds, Southern Ireland is to pay 56 percent of it, and Northern Ireland 44 percent. After the preliminary two-year period, this proportion also is subject to change.

In place of the Supreme Court of Judicature in Ireland there are to be set up Supreme Courts for Northern and Southern Ireland, each to consist of a High Court and a Court of Appeals. In addition there is to be a High Court of Appeals for all Ireland, from which in certain cases appeal may be made to the House of Lords.

Forty-two members are to be elected from Ireland to the British Parliament, thirty from Southern and twelve from Northern Ireland. These are to be chosen from districts determined by the present bill, and the Irish Members of the House of Commons now entitled to seats are to vacate them on the appointed day and writs are to be issued for the election of new members.

The Bill passed its second reading on March 31 by a vote of 348 to 94. The minority was composed as follows: Labor 43, Independent Liberals 20, Conservatives 24, Irish Nationalists 7, Sir Edward Carson and the Ulster members abstained from voting.

For A Bone Dry Canada

Eight Of The Nine Provinces Now Have Authority To Halt Liquor Importation

Efforts to convert the modified prohibition which prevails throughout the Dominion of Canada into a "bone-dry" regime of the order which prevails in the United States, are now under way, with prospects of success in all the nine provinces except Quebec.

At present eight of the provinces are operating under wartime legislation which prohibits the manufacture or sale within each province of beverages of more than 2 percent alcoholic content, while the Province of Quebec operates under a constitutional act of the Legislature, which came into effect the 1st of May last year, permitting the sale of beer of approximately 6 percent and wine of 15 percent alcohol, with stronger spirits to be sold by licensed vendors on medical prescriptions or for industrial purposes.

Control of inter-provincial trade, however, lies within the jurisdiction of the Dominion Parliament, with the result that the residents within any province that has "gone dry" by action of its Legislature, may import alcohol of any strength or in any quantity for consumption within their own homes from any "wet" province, or even from outside the Dominion.

Thirsty Canadians within the arid districts, who were willing to pay the profiteering prices exacted by Quebec liquor dealers, did not, therefore, find the prohibitive legislation very irksome.

But the days of drouth will shortly be upon them also, for the Dominion Parliament has recently put it within the power of each individual province to prohibit this interprovincial traffic.

Prohibitory legislation in Canada began in September, 1916, when a wartime act passed by the Ontario Legislature came into force. This was followed by similar action on the part of British Columbia and the other western provinces, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba, in turn. Shortly afterward the eastern provinces of Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick fell into line, while the Province of Quebec declined to "be stampeded by Ontario hysteria," as some political leaders expressed it.

Liquor dealers from all over the Dominion flocked to Montreal, and with the local purveyors reaped a rich harvest in the interprovincial trade until a few months later the Dominion Government, by order-in-council, put a temporary stop to the traffic as a war measure.

These orders-in-council lapsed the first of this year, with the proclamation of peace in Canada, and the traffic was resumed in intensified form, with the result that urgent representations from all quarters were sent to Ottawa protesting against the nullification of the will of the provinces.

Parliament then passed a measure providing that any province might prohibit the importation of alcoholic spirits within any area where local prohibition prevailed.

Nearly all the provincial Legislatures are now in session, and in each case legislation enabling them to take advantage of this provision has been brought forward.

Local Color And Clothes

(New York Times)

With Yale men sombrely donning sweaters and corduroy, and undergraduates in the milder South leaping into overalls, this note of local color from Oxford makes one blink and rub his eyes—casts a shadow once again, in fact, upon Solomon and his celebrated raiment. It is in a letter to The American Oxonian, which comes from R. P. Coffin, '16, "Maine and Trinity."

After "five years of shadow," in which quadrangles were given over to the wounded and lecture halls to young women, the university is itself again, with a record attendance of five thousand.

All is sunshine . . . harlequin "footer" shirts; collegiate stockings that abide by the time-honored color schemes and stockings that abide by no rules, new or old, pre-Raphaelite or pre-bellum, but partake of a ruthless, unorganised glory; reawakened tweeds in plaids and splotches—all these blatantly proclaim the return to studious ways of an army of undergraduates. The playing fields are eloquent with striped jerseys and glorious hose. "Blues" are seen again in our streets. Bare-kneed athletes make Carfax a dangerous crossing in the afternoon.

On Guy Fawkes Day, three German cannon which had been placed in the Botanical Gardens were dumped into the classic waters of the neighboring Isis, and a huge Oxford bobby, guardian of Carfax, was abducted by an even huger American Rhodes scholar and locked up in his rooms "as a memento of the occasion." In brief, Oxford is military only in obeying the order "As you were!" "As if after the lapse of a single 'long vac.' the drear interim of five years is a thing that never was."

The essence of English life is paradox, and Oxford is the quintessence of England. The Briton lives beneath leaden skies which, as some one has said, "are supported by multitudinous columns of factory smoke;" yet he has taught mankind and all its poets the love of natural beauty. His island home lies in the latitude of Labrador and has a climate that sends man, woman and child red in the nose and blue about the gills; yet he has taught the world the true love of outdoor sport. Universally regarded as phlegmatic in temperament and constitutionally a beef eater, his fancy in dress runs riot in a gamut that reaches from the tartans of Scotland to the golf hose, blazers, neckties and hatbands of Oxford. These last be our theme—though it lies not in mortal power to do them justice!

The so-called Scotch hose are not Scotch, at least in the opinion of a certain American traveler at Oxford. Contemplating the neighboring Norman church at Iffley, his attention was arrested by the sculptural ornaments of the many little bulging columns—zigzag stripes and checkers; spirals that whirl to the right or left and spirals that inter-twine; nondescript blatant ornaments which, as he said, are a combination of herringbone, wishbone and trombone. In the Dark Ages architectural patterns were tricked out in color—red, blue, green and yellow—as was also the custom in the Greece of Pheidias. Let the Scotch boast the glory of their plaids! The golf stocking is Norman and indigenous to Oxford.

As for necktie and hatband, what an Englishman can do is known here to our rowing men in the color of the famous Leander Club, the precise shade of which lies somewhere between a hectic salmonpink and a faded crushed strawberry. Each college at Oxford has its distinctive combination of colors, which is worn by all its many athletic teams in blazer, stocking and necktie. So has each club, the least distinguished as well as Vincent's or the Bullingdon, though these are limited to necktie and hatband. Quadrangle and city street, playing field, river and towing path, glitter like a huge kaleidoscope beneath the leaden sky. Even five years of warfare, which has fallen with the utmost horror upon Englishmen of the upper classes, sweeping away the flower of their youth and crippling all ancient estates, cannot dim the spirit that rejoices beyond any Joseph in a coat, necktie and stockings of many colors.

There seems something in our democracy predestined to be drab. True, we wear colors in sporting clothes; but it is with a difference. There are those still alive who remember how the custom came to us—in the dark backward and abysm of time, somewhere in the eighteen-eighties. At Harvard the 'Varsity crew wore blazers of broad stripes, crimson and black. The non-athletic wore their gaudier class colors; or, rather they refused to wear them, scorning so undistinguished a distinction. Then the Bolsheviki arose—or what corresponded to them in those halcyon days—declaring that they also were members of the university and entitled to wear its colors. They did so. Thereupon the 'Varsity teams ceased to wear the 'Varsity colors—whereupon the pre-Bolsheviki ceased to wear them. And that, for a long time, was the end of the reign of the coat of many colors.

In miniature this is the story of all fashions among us. What the few wear, everybody wears in time. The coiffure of those who are dressed by maidservants and the slippers of what used to be called carriage-folk come at last to the shop and the office—to die there. For what everybody wears nobody wears. The fashion of sweaters and overalls has presumably a patriotic motive—death to the profiteers! Let us hope it may have a happier ending.

He Was No Prophet

For the sixth time the golfing novice aimed viciously at the ball, but it still remained perched upon the tee. He was about to make his seventh attempt when the caddie held up his hand.

"There's a man going across in front of you, sir."

"What if he is?" snapped the novice.

"You must shout 'fore!' if there's anybody in the way when you're going to hit the ball."

"How on earth do I know when I'm going to hit the ball?" cried the golfer angrily.

Discourses Of A Scientist

BY EDGAR LUCIEN LARKIN
(Director of Mt. Lowe Observatory)

Circular No. 220 has just been received from the Harvard College Observatory, giving maximum brilliancy of 372 variable suns due to occur in 1920. It is a valuable contribution to the now rapidly expanding and growing literature of astronomy. The numerous observatories of the world are publishing results of nightly vigils of the toilers and workers in the witching hours around and about midnight.

The very title, "Variable Suns," is impressive. Suns are gigantic bodies in space deeps, all at terrific energy of heat, but many vary in brightness; that is, the quantity of energy of light received from them here on earth varies. But to vary the light of a huge sun requires that Nature shall work on a colossal scale. Imagination is eclipsed when it tries to imagine of a giant sun that varies in the intensity of its light in less than twenty-four hours; and also when variation requires two years.

Our sun is 1,310,000 times larger than the earth. Suppose that it should suddenly begin to vary its output of energy of light at a rate of less than one day. Then it would vary in energy of heat, also. This would annihilate all life on the earth.

If the orbit of a sun is edgewise toward the earth, then one sun will be seen from the earth to pass between us and the other. If both suns are of nearly equal brilliancy, the telescope will receive a larger quantity of light.

But suppose that the revolving sun is "dead"—that is, has a crust and cannot emit light; then the glow of the brilliant sun would be cut off. If the cool sun (it may be very hot within) should be of such diameter and distance from the other to cut off all the light, then we would see a totally eclipsing variable. The sun Beta Persei, commonly called Algol, is nearly a total as it loses five-sixths of its light. At maximum brightness it is a second magnitude sun. Then its light wanes to its minimum in 2 days 20 hours 48 minutes 55 seconds. This is a short period variable.

We would not now know much about it had it not been for that marvel of human genius, the spectroscope. By methods that cannot be even mentioned in this note the dimensions of the orbit have been discovered, and from this, together with times of revolution of both suns around their common center of gravity, the diamters of both have been determined. One, the bright body, is 1,000,000 miles and the dark, or eclipsing body, 760,000 miles in diameter.

There are about thirty of the Algol type of rapid variation, and nearly all are within five days' periodicity. The two Algol suns are of very low density, very large, but not very massive, for both contain two-thirds of the quantity of matter now stored in our sun. But the distance is so great, its parallax being only 0.035 seconds of arc, making its distance from our sun 550 trillion miles, it radiates eighty times more light than our own sun, and is as bright as our sun is at noon.

The splendid binary sun named Beta Lyrae has two minima, one much more noticeable than the other. These suns are unique. But this pair exhibits changes in their spectra. This fact opens up a new line in spectroscopic research.

The mean distance of the centers of this pair of revolving variable suns from each other is 31,000,000 miles, but the diameters of the bodies are so great that their surfaces are almost in contact—great diameters, but low density, very low, being that of the earth's atmosphere at sea level. Then both of these suns have enormous tides, they bulge out toward each other, and this tidal movement gave rise to an entirely new series of equations in cosmical mechanics.

These led George H. Darwin to equate primeval conditions of the matter now stored in the earth and moon. Recondite formulae were deduced that could be equated if the moon tore away from the earth when its mass was liquid, viscid or plastic. The bulge to a high tide on the primitive earth attracted up, that is, away from, the direction of the earth's center by the gravitation of the sun. And the disruption of the moon would have been greatly aided by centrifugal tendency of the earth's axial rotation. Darwin's researches made a new era in mathematical astronomy.

The sun Mira in the southern constellation Cetus, the Whale, is a prominent variable sun. This was discovered in the early dawn of modern astronomy and its variations have been studied with ever-increasing accuracy, aided by modern photography. Indeed it is food for exalted thoughts, the idea even that bodies so immense as suns can vary in such short periods. Astronomers could not account for the change until the perfection of the modern telespectroscope. For by this instrument orbits of variable or eclipsing binardes were determined. Diameters of the remote revolving bodies followed. These data, together with times of revolution, at once gave mathematicians means for computation. And now we are to have 372 maxima in 1920.

Siberia's Metropolis

Irkutsk is forty hours from anywhere, figuratively; five days from Petrograd, literally, in the best of times; and further, in fact, from the Russian capital than is San Francisco from New York. The Siberian metropolis, too far removed to suffer more than pin pricks from the World War, finally fell to the Bolsheviki.

"Among Siberian cities Irkutsk is noted for its churches, orphanages, hospitals, schools, observatories and museums," General A. W. Greely wrote after a visit to it about ten years ago. "It is a city of imposing buildings, beautiful homes, and is given to lavish hospitality, while its extended business operations are supplemented by all modern municipal equipments, including telephony and efficient fire service.

"It must be added that it has in Summer nearly impassable streets, that the prevalence of unpunished crimes is notorious, while it is said by free-speaking Russians that the inefficiency of its police is only surpassed by the corruption of its officials.

The city's normal population is about that of Omaha, Neb., according to a bulletin of the National Geographic Society, which adds:

"Irkutsk had its beginning from the station established there in 1652 for collection of a fur tax from the Burists. This curious people still dwells in the Baikal Lake region. In them, it would seem, the ethnological east and west almost meet. Their business is akin to the herdsmen of our own Western plains; their appearance, with shaved heads and pigtails, like that of the Chinese. In Winter they dress like Eskimos, with sheepskins and furs; their Summer attire is the Oriental gown of silk and cotton.

"The horses the Buriats raise figure in the religion they cling to most tenaciously. This religion calls for sacrifice of the favorite steed at the owner's grave. The less faithful among the heirs, though, have been known to tie an animal with a tether so frayed that the horse soon broke away to join the herd.

"One of the peculiar customs which the traveler encountered at Irkutsk before the war was the closing of the railway ticket office for the sale of tickets two days prior to the departure of a train. He was not expected to decide to take a trip to Petrograd (3,792 miles), to Moscow (3,384 miles) or to Vladivostok (2,008 miles) on the spur of the moment."

They'd Been Before Him

"Have some aigs dis mornin', Jedge?" asked the ebony waiter.

"Not this morning, Sam," replied the man of the bench, adjusting his spectacles preparatory to distinguishing the name of some dish on the menu from the fly-specks.

"Ever try enny of our fresh-boiled aigs, Jedge?"

"Yes, indeed, Sam; and found 'em guilty."

"You always have that same waitress in the restaurant, don't you?" said the business man.

"Always," replied his friend. "She's very careful to bring me clean food."

"How do you know?"

"Why, today I saw her brushing the dust off my piece of custard pie with her apron."

Puzzled

A slum child was enjoying his first glimpse of pastoral life. On a little stool he sat beside the farmer's wife, who was plucking a chicken.

He watched the operation gravely for some time. Then he spoke.

"Do yer take off their clothes every night, lidy?"

"One leads where many follow."

Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.

It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.

Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "spring-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.

Value Of Concentration

Garrett P. Serviss Shows How To Focus Mind On One Matter

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

"Please explain the extent of concentration. Is not mental telepathy the same as concentration? To what advantage could either or both be used? Kindly explain how to concentrate so as to get the results desired.—J. C."

I do not know that there is any such thing as "mental telepathy." I have never seen any proof of it, and a special investigation not long ago at the Leland Stanford University, an investigation in which no less than 10,000 experiments were tried, led to the result that the number of cases in which an idea or impression seemed to have been conveyed from one brain to another formed precisely the same percentage of the total number that it should have done by the ordinary laws of chance without any telepathic effort whatever.

In other words, this investigation appeared to show that when identical thoughts or identical mental images occur to two persons simultaneously it is a matter of simple coincidence and not the result of an occult communication between brains.

In such cases "identity" is seldom pushed to the extreme meaning of the word. A close or a striking resemblance usually passes for a "success" in any attempt to convey thought. But manifestly this looseness of method opens the door wide to all shades of coincidence.

If you think of the swastika figure and the person upon whose brain you are trying to impress that figure draws the Greek cross, many believers in telepathy would claim that the experiment had succeeded, because of the considerable resemblance between the two figures. But no really scientific investigator would give more than a slight suggestive weight or value to a partial coincidence like that.

We shall never know whether telepathy is a fact or an illusion until a large number of strictly controlled scientific tests have been applied to the phenomena that are supposed to indicate the existence of a supernormal method of communication between thinking brains.

As to mental concentration, it must naturally be associated with telepathic experiments. It forms their very basis. But I doubt, as things stand at present, whether such concentration has any effect outside the mind of the person who exercises it. The same investigation at Leland Stanford University to which I referred above appeared also to show that the traditional belief that a person's attention may be drawn by simply fixing the eyes upon him is without a basis of fact, the cases which seem to support it being merely the effect of accidental coincidence, which may be brought about by other circumstances than the supposed influence of the staring eyes.

Concentrate your mind upon your work, whatever it may be; that is the greatest secret of success. Things that seem almost miraculous may be achieved by persistent concentration of attention and purpose. It is hardly too much to say that you can make almost whatever you like of yourself by means of this kind of mental control.

Try it, and so satisfy yourself that your mind is no machine, a chemical jack-in-the-box of the brain, but an entity of some kind that uses the brain for its instrument, and sharpens and improves the instrument at its will, or at your will—for perhaps "you" are the governor and the mind is your agent, and by your agent you use the tools of the brain.

How to concentrate? Well, if you know the meaning of the word "concentrate," which any dictionary will give you, then you have the whole program in three syllables—concentrate. Don't let your attention wander. Bring it back instantly and persistently if it starts to wander. Careless reading is a fatal dissipator of the attention. It requires a strong and well-trained mind to read page after page and book after book without damage to the power of concentration.

If you cannot keep your attention fixed upon what you are reading, throw the book away and turn, with all your mind to something that you can attend to. If you find concentration difficult, practise it.

When you are at work keep your mind upon your work. There are few occupations that can be pursued automatically without mental injury to the worker. A woman knitting may think of other things than her stocking, and think with good effect and a man may chop wood or split rails, like Lincoln, and at the same time think out the argument of a speech. But generally if you turn your mind away from what your hands are doing you will muse, and not think, and that will weaken your mental springs.

Whether you are trying to convey your thought to another by "mental telepathy" or to gather your intellectual energies for use at home, the process of concentration is precisely the same. Focus your thoughts as a lens focusses the sunbeams—all together at a point.

How Too Much Advice Upsets Little Home

By WINIFRED BLACK

The baby is a year and a half old, as fat as butter, and it has blue eyes and brown hair like floss silk and dimples in its knuckles and a little crease where its head is joined to the neck, and nobody can help wanting to kiss that baby—not when the baby has on its best white frock and blue jacket, embroidered in white with scallops and blue booties and has a perfectly ridiculous ribbon bow of blue tied right around its hair—no, nobody!

And it's clever, oh, awfully clever!—that baby. She says "Da-da" when she sees her father and "Ma-ma" when she sees her mother, and when she wants to go riding she scuttles over to the place where her little hood is and waves her pudgy hands and knits her eyebrows and makes a speech about it—only nobody can understand what she says, and nobody has to—because everybody knows.

And she has a white elderdown rabbit and a gray flannel elephant and a woolly Teddy bear, left over from somewhere, and a rubber kewpie doll, and a grandmother and three aunts and four uncles and all kinds of cousins.

And baby's mother is just about crazy.

She loves the baby so she doesn't know what to do, and her husband loves her and the baby, and you'd think they'd be perfectly happy.

They would, too, if people would let them alone and stop giving them advice about that baby.

But the people won't. Mother has her say, and all the aunts have theirs, and the cousins approve of this, and disapprove of that, and all the in-laws come over and tell her what never, never to do for her own baby, unless she just wants to see it pine away and die, right before her eyes.

Grandma wants to give the baby a bit of bacon rind to chew—she says it will develop the digestion.

Aunt Kate believes in three hours' nap in the afternoon, and two hours in the morning, and not going to bed till 10 o'clock at night.

THE ADVICE VARIES

Aunt Mary says the new fangled idea of putting a child to sleep in a crib by itself is all wrong. Babies ought to sleep with their mothers—that's all there is to it.

Uncle Henry declares that any woman who won't feed her baby every time the baby cries is a heartless monster.

And Cousin Mary says that the one way to spoil a baby is to pay attention to it every time it lifts its eyebrows.

Baby's mother has written to me about it. She says she's about distracted.

She took her baby to the nearest baby experts and got some expert advice, and the baby appeared to be doing perfectly well under the advice—but none of the relations believe in experts, and they have made fun of the little mother and laughed at her and nagged her about it until she doesn't know whether she's on her head or her feet, and doesn't care so very much.

What shall she do about it? Well, now, I'll tell you, little mother. Spring is here, and the dandelions will soon be all over the place, like so many gold medals, for honorable conduct on the field of battle, and the meadow larks will be sitting on the telegraph wires, calling at the top of their voices, "Gee, what a peach of a day!" And the bobolinks will swing and play chute-the-chutes on the swaying tips of wild bushes along the roadside, and the violets will be blue at the foot of the old oak tree. Why don't you and husband and the baby hurry up and get out into the country before Summer gets here?

You need it, and husband needs it and baby needs it, and while you're going, get just as far away from the relatives and the in-laws and the advisers as you can.

You and your husband and your baby will be right when you get away by yourselves. Get away, as fast as you can.

A SIMPLE SOLUTION

If you can't go to the country, go somewhere else—to another part of town. Don't say why, but just go, and if they all come trouping to visit you anyhow, smile and smile. They won't come very long, if you move far enough; and when they begin to advise you about that baby, be awfully sweet and grateful and advise them, oh, so nicely, about some of their own affairs. Don't let them see what you mean by it—just turn the tables on them, that's all; and if they have any sense of humor or any sense of justice at all, they'll laugh and let you alone.

And then you and husband and baby can have—oh, the nicest time in all the world, and make your own mistakes and learn your own lessons and quarrel about them, and make up again, and be natural and simple and real—as you were intended to be when you were born.

And that, it seems to me, will be rather nice.

A Method In His Madness

"Henry!"

Mrs. Brown's voice was stern. Mr. Brown recognised the signs of a coming storm, so he prepared to listen.

"I saw Gerald—our boy—smoking a pipe today—actually, a dirty, smelling pipe!" the poor woman ended with a sob.

"Well, what can we do?" exclaimed the husband. "The boy's seventeen. I don't see"—

"You mean to say that you will allow him to smoke? Why, it's sheer madness!"

Henry nodded. Then, after witnessing the unique spectacle of his wife speechless for once, he strolled off into the garden, where he came across Gerald in a corner, with the pipe going full blast.

"Hello, my boy!" he cried. "This is something new, isn't it? Er—by the way, I've left my pouch in the house. Can you give me a fill?"

Then he, as he walked away puffing happily, murmured:

"It may be madness, but there's method in it. I can see Gerald's pouch being quite a money-saver to poor old dad."

Two Cigarettes A Day Or Maids Will Strike

Ferrara, Italy, March 27.—In this ancient city servants have very advanced ideas. Employers were faced this evening with a new demand from their maids, who issued an ultimatum to the effect that they must get two cigarettes a day from their mistresses or otherwise they would strike. Other demands include a fortnight vacation at the sea every summer, also at the employer's expense, and, of course, 30 percent raise in wages.

There is a large garrison in the city and employers, who have great difficulty in getting a smoke for themselves owing to tobacco shortage, declare that the demand originated with the troopers, Sergeants and Corporals who hang around the market place and make love to the maids. They, with the rest of the community, find it hard to get a smoke and have hit on this plan for settling the problem cheaply and easily.
